

INT. DEREK'S BEDROOM - MORNING

Derek asleep in his bed is woken by his lights which are suddenly turned on by his mum. He squints and sighs as he rolls out of bed. He walks over to his mirror and then turns to look into the camera.

DEREK (WITTY TONE TO CAMERA)

I know what you're thinking already, that this is just some cliché teenage drama movie. Coming of age some may call it. But trust me those are all bull sh**! First and foremost they're unrealistic. Why do they always cast twenty-something-year-old actors to play teens like they just suddenly skip the awkward stage?

Derek walks out of his bedroom closing the door behind him.

INT. LAUNDRY - MID-MORNING

Derek walks into the room lugging a large black rubbish bag which is awfully full, he begins trying to put it down the rubbish shoot.

DEREK

And don't even get me started about how they never show the characters doing chores. Like what's that about?

He continues to struggle to get the rubbish bag to get down the shoot.

DEREK

I guess I'll have to find some other way to dispose of this!

Feeling defeated he aggressively grabs the trash bag grunts and exits the room hastily.

EXT. DRIVEWAY - MID-DAY

Derek strides towards the car, the rubbish bag in his right hand. He opens the boot, putting the bag inside then slamming the boot shut. He then gets into the car and starts driving.

INT. CAR - MID-DAY

Driving along the street Derek has a determined look on his face. He hits a few speed bumps on his way.

DEREK

See what I mean! My life is far from charming. Seriously now because that darn rubbish not going down the chute I'm going to be late for school.

Derek hits the gas and a drives away.

EXT. BACKYARD - LATE AFTERNOON

Derek who has returned from school for the day is outside in the garden with his mother. His mother is planting flowers, she gets up and walks inside. Derek stays in the garden with a shovel resting in his grip.

DEREK

See it's exhausting after a long day at school all I want now is to rest but you see I've got these chrysanthemums to plant here.

INT. DEREK'S BEDROOM - EVENING

Derek exhausted walks into his bedroom and slumps onto his bed. Sitting up he turns to look at the camera.

DEREK

I really wasn't kidding about TV being so unrealistic you know.

Derek wipes his forehead and smears blood across it.

DEREK (BLUNTLY TO CAMERA)

Criminal Minds makes it look way easier to dispose a dead body.

Cut to black.
